1. Important information about opening a new account

To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering, federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify and record information that identifies each person who opens an account.

What this means for you: when you open an account, we will ask for your name, address, date of birth and other information that will allow us to identify you. We may also ask to see your driver's licence or other identifying documents.

(USA PATRIOT Act Section 326; 31 CFR 1020.220)

3.1 Beneficial ownership

Under the FinCEN Customer Due Diligence Rule (31 CFR 1010.230), legal-entity customers must certify: - each individual who owns 25% or more of the equity, and - one individual with significant control (e.g. CEO, CFO, managing member).

We verify the identity of each person listed. Atlas also collects this information independently of the Corporate Transparency Act, which no longer applies to US-formed companies after the March 2025 FinCEN interim final rule.

4. How we verify

- Documentary verification: the ID is inspected in branch, or scanned with a liveness selfie online.
- Non-documentary verification: identity is checked against consumer reporting agencies, public records and ChexSystems / Early Warning Services.
- OFAC and sanctions screening against the SDN and other US government lists.
- Customer risk rating (low / moderate / high). High-risk customers receive Enhanced Due Diligence: money services businesses, cash-intensive businesses, third-party payment processors, foreign PEPs, and marijuana-related businesses (not accepted).

5. When we may decline or close an account

Atlas may decline to open an account if: - identity cannot be verified within 30 days (online opening: 10 days, then the account is closed and funds returned by check) - the applicant matches a sanctions list - ChexSystems shows unpaid losses from account abuse or fraud in the past 5 years (losses under USD 500 that are resolved do not disqualify; we offer Atlas Fresh Start Checking) - the information supplied is false or inconsistent

If we decline your application based on a consumer report, we will send you an adverse action notice. It names the reporting agency and explains your right to a free copy of the report within 60 days, and your right to dispute it (Fair Credit Reporting Act).

6. Opening channels and limits
