Why?

Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?

The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include: - Social Security number and income - account balances and transaction history - credit history and credit scores - payment history and employment information

When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

How?

All financial companies need to share customers' personal information to run their everyday business. The table below lists the reasons financial companies can share their customers' personal information, whether Atlas chooses to share, and whether you can limit this sharing.

- Visit www.atlasretailbank.example/privacy
- Mail the form below

Please note: if you are a new customer, we can begin sharing your information 30 days from the date we sent this notice. When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice. You can contact us at any time to limit our sharing.

Who we are

Who is providing this notice? Atlas Retail Bank, N.A., and its affiliates Atlas Investment Services LLC, Atlas Insurance Agency LLC and Atlas Home Lending LLC (all fictional).

What we do

How does Atlas protect my personal information? To protect your personal information from unauthorised access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings. They follow the FTC/Interagency Safeguards guidelines and the FFIEC information security standards.

How does Atlas collect my personal information? We collect your personal information, for example, when you open an account or deposit money, pay your bills or apply for a loan, use your debit card, or give us your contact information. We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates or other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing? Federal law gives you the right to limit only: - sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes (information about your creditworthiness) - affiliates using your information to market to you - sharing for non-affiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing. See below for more on your rights under state law.

Definitions

- Affiliates: companies related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and non-financial companies. Our affiliates include the Atlas companies listed above.
- Non-affiliates: companies not related by common ownership or control. Atlas does not share with non-affiliates so they can market to you.
- Joint marketing: a formal agreement between non-affiliated financial companies that together market financial products or services to you. Our joint marketing partners include credit card and insurance companies.

Other important information

- Vermont and California residents: we will not share information with affiliates or non-affiliates except as permitted by law. We will automatically treat accounts with Vermont or California billing addresses as if you had opted out.
- Online and mobile privacy: our online privacy statement explains cookies, analytics and how we handle data collected through Atlas Mobile.
- Data breach notification: we will notify you of security breaches affecting your information as required by federal law (interagency guidance) and the laws of your state.

Mail-in opt-out form

Mark any or all you want to limit: - [ ] Do not share information about my creditworthiness with your affiliates for their everyday business purposes. - [ ] Do not allow your affiliates to use my personal information to market to me.
